The Center for Association Resources, Inc. is now ASAE Accredited

May, 2006, Schaumburg, IL, - The Center for Association Resources, Inc. is now ASAE Accredited through the American Society of Association Executives & The Center for Association Leadership in Washington DC. Only 62 other firms in the US have received this esteemed accreditation. Based on a specific set of consensus standards developed by the ASAE's AMC Accreditation Commission, this accreditation signifies that The Center for Associations Resources, Inc. is in complete compliance and formally recognizes that they meet and adhere to all these standards.

As part of the requirements to achieve this accreditation, each association management company must submit an extensive application and prove their competence in several areas of service, policies and resources including proof of securing necessary types of insurance including Errors and Omissions, Commercial General Liability, etc., managing all client accounts and funds in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), and proving that 50 percent of their revenues come from association management services to volunteer-governed membership associations or other nonprofit organizations, just to name a few.

“We are proud to achieve this accreditation as it ensures a level of competence to our clients and fellow ASAE members, and distinguishes us from a large share of our competition” states Rob Patterson, Chief Executive Officer of The Center for Association Resources, Inc. “This accreditation supports our commitment to our clients and affirms our passion and dedication to the industry.”

This accreditation program is designed to elevate professional standards and designate firms that demonstrate the knowledge essential to the practice of association management. Accreditation with the ASAE AMC Accreditation Commission is recognized for a period of three years at which time the Center for Association Resources, Inc. will be required to reaffirm that their initial application is still valid and accurate.

The Center for Association Resources, Inc. is an association management firm that works with member organizations nationwide offering executive management, project management, strategy planning, fundraising and foundation development, leadership and employee productivity training, member needs assessment and organizational effectiveness audits/studies.
